Friends and customers all over the world are asking the same question, "Is there a oil suppliers near me that allows me to stay safe during these difficult times?"

Unfortunately, it is a difficult situation for vendors and customers alike. We want to share our products with our customers, but we really do not want to share anything else that will make them ill.

We all know that over the long-term the way we buy any product is going to change. It could be argued that the shopping experience of walking into a shopping mall will have consequences beyond our control. The familiar warm customer service will change and replaced with a more distant relationship. This is of course very sad that it has come to this, but as human-beings we are able to adept and be creative in our response.

All the industries are needing to change the way they do business:

- Restaurants are needing to develop a take-away and delivery service
- Supermarkets have started offering online and pick-up or delivery services

This means that the essential oils and wellness industry has needed to change also. In the past, essential oils would be purchased from a local store or from a local distributor via party plan. This has become a thing of the past. So, what is the solution to buying aroma oil in the future? Simply find essential oil suppliers that offer a quality service online.

8 REASONS WHY WE SHOULD BUY ESSENTIAL OILS ONLINE?

There are many reasons to buy products and services online. However, considering that essential oils are such intimate products it seems more important to buy them online. In addition, we have become accustomed buying on the internet and in fact in 2018 it was estimated 1.8 billion people worldwide purchased goods online. From those figures 63 percent of shopping events started online, 50% using mobile devices to purchase their product or services.

So, it is not surprising that we have begun to see the benefit of buying our essential oils online and having them delivered to our doorstep. However, what are the other reasons to buy essential oils online?

Saving a lot of time

The amount of things you do not need to do when shopping for essential oils is amazing. No driving to the store or stores if they don't have what you want. No stopping for a coffee which is extra cost. No getting waylaid by someone or something such as shop window and sales while means buying more things you don't really need or want.

Complete social distancing

While you are sitting in front of your PC purchasing your oils, you are not complaining that someone is getting too close in the stores. The amount of social distancing needed to go to a store can be very stressful so reducing any social contact is a safer option.

Save on travelling expenses

Buying online means not buying fuel or a ticket for the bus, tram or train. Sadly, it does mean getting up and walking to the computer with a green tea if needed. Once you have purchased your essential oils, within a day or so, they will arrive at your door step.

Shopping for oils 24 / 7

If you really want to go to the stores, there is normally a time when they are open. The best thing about buying online is the shops are never closed. This means when the kids are in bed and everything is quiet you can enjoy making your order online whenever you are free to do so.

Essential oils are more affordable online

Often, online businesses like to offer wholesale prices to loyal customers. This is a great way to reduce the amount of money spent on your essential oils. So, making a regular order is often the best option. Also, many have monthly specials such as:

- Buy one get one free
- Free products with orders over a certain amount
- Product points toward free products
- And so on

Online discounts outweigh physical stores by a mile.

No queuing

How we stand in a queue presently is more dangerous than it ever was before, so avoiding queuing is vital to staying safe. In addition, the amount of time wasted standing waiting to be served.

IN THE PAST I WOULD LOOK FOR A ESSENTIAL OIL SUPPLIERS NEAR ME WITHOUT REAL SUCCESS?

Before I was interested in using essential oils it was not always easy to find a essential oils wholesale reps in my area. The main issue was quality. I could easily find cheap essential oils, but my wife was looking for high quality therapeutic grade essential oils. In the end I did find a company that ticked all the boxes for me with quality and delivery online.

Once my wife understood that she didn't have to search locally for a store everything changed. There product services were available globally and even allowed customers to consider selling their products for them as essential oils sell consultants. The sale consultant received as apart of their business package a FREE personalized webshop as well as many other extras.

After using their products for a while I realized myself that running my own business online as a essential oils rep could be the break I was looking for. However, I do understand from some people, the personal touch is important. This is very challenging situation at the moment. I would love to say there is a real alternative to a closer customer service, but there isn't.

However, to make thing slightly more accessible to my customers I am available on WhatsApp and this websites messenger. I believe that the personal touch is important when someone is looking to know more about the oils and wellness properties.
